

One-liners For Behaviour Management

One-liners 061 to 080

NOTE:

Character development and behaviour management for parents, teachers and children are inseparably bound up in these One-liners.

- 061 Children should not have greater access to you than your spouse.
- 062 There is no respect for authority unless there is some fear.
- 063 Treat your child as an adult, and they will expect the same privileges.
- 064 Helping others will help children with their self-respect.
- 065 Practice 'active listening' with your child, it helps.
- 066 Health and fitness go hand in hand with good behaviour.
- 067 Watch your emotions; children are good at reading body language.
- 068 Routine, tidiness and organisation give children security.
- 069 Do you want your child to grow up to be like the characters they watch on television.
- 070 'I'm bored.' Means, 'I'm too lazy to be resourceful and find something to do.'
- 071 Parents should never argue about managing behaviour in front of the children.
- 072 Children will give up when they know it is impossible to get what they want.
- 073 Encourage and provide opportunities for children to share their ideas.
- 074 In a truly democratic family, three children could out-vote the parents on every issue, the kids would rule.
- 075 Don't believe everything your children tell you; they see things through many filters.
- 077 Children learn to become freeloaders when they don't work around the home.
- 078 Behaviour management should begin when children are still in the cradle.
- 079 Don't change your expectations when you are away from home or have visitors.
- 080 Use common sense in managing behaviour.

By
Richard Warden